Dear parents/carers,

We are celebrating British Science Week at school over the next couple of weeks with some fun Science activities as well as joining in with a live online assembly taking place at the Royal Observatory. Next week we are holding our Science fair in the cabin on Tuesday 5th and Wednesday 6th March. The cabin will be open until 4pm for parents and families to come and see our fantastic entries!

The British Science Association are also holding a poster competition to celebrate this year's theme which is 'Time'. There are loads of STEM topics were explored! Students could create a poster showing how a certain type of technology has changed over time, or even the advancement of time-telling technology itself. Budding poster makers could also go futuristic show us how they think the world might look in years to come, or perhaps look at nature – lifecycles, lifespans, evolution and hibernation – nature is full of timely topics.

Posters can be made by an individual or a group and must only be on one A4 or one A3 piece of paper and the judges will be looking for:

- Creativity in approach – Innovative angle on the content or creative interpretation of the theme
- Content – Clear, accurate and informative about a STEM topic
- Effective communication – presented and communicated in an engaging way

Members of the British Science Association will shortlist entries, and a panel of judges will select a winner in each category. The organisers of the national competition have some exciting prizes this year and more information about these can be found on their website.

Entries must be brought into school and given to me via your class teacher by the end of Tuesday 27th March. We will judge them in school and then submit the winning entry for each category.

I hope you enjoy creating your posters and I cannot wait to see your entries!
